

The “Indian Press” reported on our Leadership Conference held in Washington DC November 13-14, 2006: here’s a small excerpt from the on-line article.

"ONU's conference featured lawyers and other local organizers against Native rights in Alaska, California, Connecticut, Hawaii, New York, Oklahoma, Oregon, Washington and elsewhere. Some speakers came from academia - the University of Illinois, San Diego Law School, and The Manhattan Institute - and others represented trade associations of convenience stores, petroleum marketers, crab fishermen and Western States Sheriffs, as well as the National Federation of Republican Assemblies."
